Endorsement Letter for Prof. Dr. Lorenzo IMBESI

To whom it may concern
To the Cumulus Secretary General
To the Cumulus Member Community

Bologna, 02.05.2022

I would like to express my full support to the Lorenzo Imbesi for the next Presidentship of CUMULUS association, in the upcoming elections.

He is not only a very kind and trustworthy person, design researcher and academic, but he is also highly qualified candidate through many years of membership of the Board of CUMULUS itself as well as membership of several other Design and Academic Associations that makes him capable to intertwine good relation and networking on local and global level.

Being academic leader in one of the strongest Italian Universities with vast relations over all the world, he is most suitable to cover this challenging position. Having in his resumé international life experiences in the past and currently being active all over the globe to improve what design stands for, as President of the Association he will be excelling in being Ambassador of Design wherever it is needed.

Said all, I would like to highly recommend to vote Lorenzo for the leadership of one of the most important Design Associations in the world.

With my best wishes

Andreas Sicklinger
